are rather high. It has said the government should curtail its debtraising measures.

According to an official in the know, the CAG has raised concerns over the burgeoning costs of the National Highways Authority of India's (NHAI's) projects. It has alerted the Ministry of Finance, saying the NHAI's borrowings are also government debt and should be accounted for accordingly.

Experts are of the opinion that the NHAI's debt situation is a cause for concern. It is expected to touch 22.5 trillion by the end of the current fiscal year (2019-20 or FY20). The payment outgo on account of interest is expected to be about 225,000 crore annually in the next two decades.

Major sources of income for the NHAI is toll revenue and grants from the government. Since last year, it has been monetising completed maintenance of highways.

The NHAI's borrowing target was raised 21 per cent in FY20; it can raise ₹75,000 crore. The government will

In 2018-19, the NHAI raised 62,000 crore through a mix of debt from banks, toll revenue, and a road-monetisation scheme. The PMO also suggested that the NHAI monetise its road assets base through toll-operate-transfer (TOT) auctions or through an infrastructure investment trust (InvTT). It asked the NHAI to bid out new projects under the build-operate-transfer (BOT) model, where the government's capital commitment is minimal.

One-time fee for exclusive DTH channels may rise from ₹1K to ₹1 lakh

Recommendation part of Trai's consultation paper on services offered by distribution platform owners

URVI MALVANIA Mumbai, 28 August

The telecom regulator released a consultation paper regarding services offered by distribution platform owners (DPOs), expressing a range of concerns raised by the Ministry of Information and Broadcasting through a letter it wrote in July.

Platform services (PS) channels are those that are provided by local cable operators or direct-to-home (DTH) operators exclusively to their subscribers such as Tata Sky Active or Tata Sky World Screen.

The Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (Trai) has asked for comments on revision of the registration fee for PS channels. At present, broadcasters pay a processing fee of ₹10,000 for registration of a channel in addition to a fee of ₹5 lakh per annum for the licence, and another £5 lakh per year in the form of permission fee (to downlink channels). For channels not transmitted (utblinked) from India, a broadcast-

(to downlink channels). For channels not transmitted (uplinked) from India, a broadcaster is supposed to pay 10 lakh per annum.

For PS channels, on the other hand, DPOs are required to pay a one-time registration fee of (1,000). Trai has, in its paper, asked if this fee should be increased to (1 lakh since the DTH landscape has changed significantly since the registration fee structure was laid down in 2014.

Other issues raised by the Trai range from nt of such channels on the electronic the cable or DTH operator has to ensure the content being provided by them is not shared with other DPOs.

Many DPOs, esspecially DTH service providers, carry a number of PS channels, with content varying from infomercials to interactive services. While a lot of the content may be curated for a DTH operator, many have movies-on-demand or pay-per-view services, and some titles do overlap from one DPO to another. Trai's paper argues that if the same PS content were to be shared, it would be like any other regular TV channel. According to regulations, the DPOs are not allowed to include foreign TV channels not registered in india.

Also, according to the data provided to Trai

in India.

Also, according to the data provided to Trai,
all four DTH providers — Tata Sky, Dish TV, Aritel DTH, and Sun Direct — are operating at full capacity, with no bandwidth to spare for new channels. However, players like Dish TV and Tata Sky have 40 and 41 PS channels, respectively. The lack of a cap on the number of PS channels could lead to hindrance in 'must carry' stipulation that applies to all DPOs.

According to regulations, a distribution platform must carry a channel within 60 days of a receiving a written request from the broadcast-er, or within 30 days of signing the agreement. However, at present, the 'must carry' rule does not apply if DPOs do not have spare capacity to carry more channels. "Almost all DTH operators have declared no spare capacity, whereas all have PS channels. Some have as many as 42, 25, and 20 such channels. Clearly, there is a need for regulating them." Tral said in the paper.

The Tral has called for comments from stakeholders by September 27.

The lack for a cap time the number of PS channels could lead to filindrance in rimus carry's stipulation that inpulse to all DrOs. According to regulations, a distribution platform must carry's channel within 40 days of a receiving a written request from the broadcaster, in within 36 days of signify, the agreement. However, at present, the must carry' includes not apply if DPIOs do not have spare capacity to carry more channels. One-time fee for exclusive DTH channels may rise from ₹1K to ₹1 lakh

URVI POSTVANJA

The relection regulator released a consultation paper regarding services offered by distribution platform owners (DPOs), expressing a carge of loonecours raised by the Ministry of Information and Broadcasting rhitingly a letter average in the control of the property of the control of the co their tubectives and in section when to their subscribers such as Tata Say Active or Tata Say World Screen.

The Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (Trai) has asked for comments on revision of the registration for less for Pis-Channels, A pressen, broud-saxte's pay a processing fee of $10,000 for registration of a channel in addition to in feed? Is lakely per samumi for the licence, and another (S lakely per same the fiscan in permission fee to downlink channels, for channels not transmitted (uplated) from findly, a broadcaster is suppased to pay $10 falsh per annum.

To PS channels, on the other hand, Di-Obsariagation to pay some-time registration fee of the CDOO. Trai has, in its paper, such of this fee should be increased to 11 his frees the DTI haidscape has changed spiffle statutisms; the registration fee structure was not down in 2016.

Other issues raised by the 'fral range from placement of such channels on the electronic gauge amining guide to the maximum number of channels a IPOsheald be aboved to carry.

The paper also asks if the onus of nainitaling exclusivity should fail on DPOs. This means the cable or DTH operator has to ensure that the content being provided by them is not shared with other DPOs. As my DPOs. especially DTH service providers, sarry a number of PSC hannels will content varying from informerials to interactive services, Nuller is the of the content may be curated for a DTH operator, many have movision-of-mannal or paper-per-view services, and some titles do overlap from one DPOs cannot were to be estaired, in waid the like any other regular O'Velaminet, facing life the same PSC content were to be estaired, in waid the like any other regular O'Velaminet, facing life to provide the provided of the dark of the DPOs are not allowed to include foreign TV clinametes and regular or in India.

Also, according to the talsa provided to Trat, all four DTH providers—"Talsa SAS, 20th TV, Arthel DTH, and Sun Direct — are operating at full capacity, with no bandwidth to spare for new channels, However, players like Dish TV and Tura Six have 60 and 41 PS channels, respectively. The lack of a cap multin humber of PS channels could lead to hindrance in 'must carry' slightlation that applies to all PD/s. According to regulations, a distribution platform must carry a clannel within 60 daxs of a receiving a written request from the broadcaster, or within 30 days of spating the agreement. However, at present, the 'must carry' rule does not apply 11 PSO da used laws paper capacity to carry must channels. Namost all TD1 operations have declared to Spatine (Carry, free is a need for regulating them, 'Trai said in the paper.

The 'Trai has called for comments from slake-bibliers by September 27.

the cable of DTH operator has to ensure the content being provided for them is not shared with other DPOs.

Alany DPOs, septerably DTH service providers, carry a number of PS channels, with content waying from informer bids to interactive services. While a for of the content may be current in a DTH operator, many transpose transpose to the proper scale size of the content may be current for the proper scale size of the content of the properties services, and searce titles do userelar promuse DPO to autother. Trait's paper argues that if the same PS content were to be shared, it would be filled any of the regular TV channel. According to regulations, the DPOs are on a drived to sips of her regular TV channel. According to regulations, the DPOs are not allowed to include foreign TV channels not registered in high.

Also, according to the data provided to Trail, all four DPH providers — Taits Sky, Dish TV, Aried DTII, and Sun Direct — are operating at full capacity, with no bandwidth to spare for new channels. However, players like Dish TV and That Sky have 40 and 41 IS channels, especielly. The fack of a capon the number of FS channels could lead to bindrance in 'nust carry' stipulation that applies in all DPOs. According to regulations, a distribution platform must carry as channel within 60 days not receiving a written request from the broadcasse, or within 30 days of shipping the agreement, However, at present, the 'nust carry' into does not apply if DPOs do not have spare capacity to carry more channels. "Almost all DFII operators have declared no spare capacity, whereas all inace PS channels. Some have as many as 42, 25, and 20 safe thematics, Clearly, there is a need for regulating them," Trad saft in the paper. The Trad Isso called for comments from stakeholders by September 23.
